ALUMNI HIGHLIGHT

Angela Adams, '19, was an economics and management major and a business and organizations and communication studies double minor. She was a member of the Carl A. Gerstacker Institute for Business and Management. In addition, she was a member of the Albion College volleyball team, the Student Athletic Advisory Committee, and the Phi chapter of Alpha Xi Delta. Finally, she was also a student photographer on campus and a member of the Student Marketing Committee. Angela will be attending Ohio University in the Fall of 2019 to pursue a masters in Business and Sports Administration which is a two-year program. After that, she wants to work in collegiate athletics and eventually become a Division III Athletic Director.

In her junior year, Angela traveled to Philadelphia to participate in the immersive Philadelphia Center program. She interned with the Urban League of Philadelphia in the fiscal department. She worked closely with the chief financial officer as a financial associate with this non-profit organization.

"I am thankful for Albion because of all the opportunities and the wonderful people that I have met along the way. I get to play the sport that I love, explore the possibilities of my major, meet phenomenal mentors and leaders, and put my classroom learning into action with experiential learning opportunities like the Philadelphia Center."

He will graduate next May with the hopes of receiving a full time offer from Roush.

“Albion truly is like a family to me. Everybody knows everybody, and we all support one another because we want to see each other succeed. I would not be where I am today without that love and support. From the women who run Gerstacker, to my academic advisor Vicki Baker, to the guys on the field and in the fraternity, there is a large network of people pushing you to be your best every day. Albion is home away from home, and it is the sole reason I am so prepared for life after college.”

Michele Gervais, '20, is an economics and management major with a minor in computer science. She is a member of the Carl A. Gerstacker Institute for Business and Management and the Prentiss M. Brown Honors Program. She is also involved in InterVarsity, holds a chair position in Delta Sigma Pi business fraternity, and helps manage the women's basketball team.

During the summer of 2019, Michele completed an internship with Ally Financial. She worked closely with the configurations team in insurance where she gained new skills and knowledge on systems and strategies that she can apply to any job. Upon graduation, Michele is hoping for a position in project management at a tech company so she can use the full extent of her education.

“I chose Albion because I knew I wanted to go into the business field and of all the schools I reviewed, Albion looked to have the program that was going to give me the best opportunity to be successful in my field. The professors have always been encouraging and work hard to help you reach your goals. I have truly enjoyed my time at Albion and have gain so much from all my experiences there.”
